APPLICATION OF TRUST METHODS TO CONGRESS.

Lessons continue to accumulate that convey to the public mind the ever increasing necessity there is that the public should own public utilities. The naval branch of military service should be increased to meet aggressive and defensive requirements there are upon the country. The land and naval forces occupy and sustain different relations. There should be a strong navy to meet the duty there is upon the government to patrol and police the seas in the interest of our increasing commerce, while upon the land there is no need for a large army to police the country, as it is in opposition to our theory and system of government, which rests upon and is sustained by the will of the people and which is not subject to the law of force in a military sense.

Congress is alive to the necessity there is for a strong naval force to meet the demand there is at this time for its services, which demand will continue to increase in the future as commerce develops. A late discussion in the Senate made plain the intention of the steel and iron trusts to rob the government by raising the price of steel armor, which has become imperative in naval ship building. The naval appropriation bill was before that body for its consideration and action. The section of the bill relating to armor and armament being under review, Senator Tillman offered an amendment to the section, limiting the price of armor for the use of the government to $300 per ton, and providing that the government should erect for its use a plant of its own.

Senator Hale expressed an opinion favoring a government plant, provided armor could not be bought at $445 per ton. He said armor procured for government use in 1897 was bought at $412 per ton, and now $445 was the price to the government per ton for steel armor, which was too much money. It was stated that the trusts had agreed to increase the price of armor to meet the necessities of the government by taking an advantage, which statement was resented by Senators who are in the trust business.

Senator Stewart, from Nevada, said the steel trusts should be taught a lesson by the government building its own plant, should there not be a plant made in the plant. Which suggestion is in accordance with rotten borough methods when a newspaper plant is put in place to bring an unruly member of the press into line during a rotten borough canvass for a senatorship from Nevada. There is no principle involved in the plan presented by Stewart, as the suggestion includes nothing more than a cunning strategy to deceive an opponent, which is an outflow from the leading trait in the mental make-up of the man.

There should not be a doubt about the intention and purpose of the steel and iron trusts to take advantage of the government in its naval enterprise, which is not assuring by any means of patriotism by the trusts, but is an assurance that the trusts mean to use the government for all there is in the use while they have opportunity. These concerns will be called upon to largely respond by contribution to the Hanna campaign fund, and they must receive a compensation that will meet the demand there will be made upon them for campaign purposes. A government plant should be made to meet the ever increasing demands there are upon it for more appliances in ship-building.

There would be no cause for a discussion of prices placed upon steel armor or other iron material required for naval purposes in ship construction, were the government in a position to do its work and furnish required material in that department of structure. When the government is in a position to be imposed upon by trusts, as the people are imposed upon, the time is upon the people and upon the government to secure relief against these continued villainies. The country should own and manage all there is required in its business of ship building, transportation and other departments in the public service.

The trusts are one of the strong arguments there are for the ownership by the people or by the public of all public utilities. When it is considered that the earnings of the people, when there is taken from them sufficient to give an existence to toil for more, go to trusts and private monopolies it is a matter for serious consideration. The question that should be considered above all others at this time is, what is necessary to procure relief against a growing evil that has attacked the best interest of society, which is its existence in a state of freedom? As business is conducted the trusts begin their attacks upon the people in their private relations by appropriating their earnings directly, and finish the work indirectly by appropriating their earnings in their public relation at Washington. Against these appropriations they demand relief in vain, because Congress and government are in the hands of the trusts, and are controlled by them for their uses and purposes.

Hanna and his government say the trusts are doing no harm. It should be presumed the financier in politics means that there is such an improvement made by the trusts in the methods of theft that there is not at present any means at law whereby the doors of the penitentiaries of the country can be opened to receive and closed to confine these robbers of individual citizens, and the public at large.

The writer is disposed to be kind to McKinley's boss for the sake of the good man behind him, who Senator Tillman said, on the floor of the Senate, "is a most loveable man." It is just to presume the Senator would have said in the words he is a goody goody sort of a person used by the trusts for their most vile purposes connected with misgovernment of the country and the oppression of the people, who would like to be all things to all men, and who is more than willing to receive the Presidential office another term as the price of vasulation in matters pertaining to the most vital principles of the republic.

Water Storage.

The point has been raised by the press of San Francisco that the Von Schmidt scheme will cause no injury to Nevada by reason of the fact that two-thirds of the waters of the Truckee are not utilized; that they flow to waste during the season when irrigation is not practiced.

The Journal suggests that the committee appointed by the citizens of Washoe to chase down the Von Schmidt ignis fatuus be empowered and directed to study and report upon the feasibility of checking the flow of the Truckee during the months of winter and early spring and releasing the waters when most needed, thus giving the power plants along the river a uniform supply and permitting the bringing under irrigation of large tracts of fertile land along the river, which now lie waste because of shortage during the summer months.

People who are conversant with the lay of the land at the outlet of Lake Tahoe say that a restraining dam could be constructed at small expense, and the area of the lake is so great that a vast quantity of water could be stored without damaging riparian property.

Taken of Appreciation.

The Woodmen of the World held an interesting meeting last evening. During the session a handsome charm, emblematic of the order, was presented by Council Commander Williams to G. W. Perkins, retiring clerk of the camp, who has held the position for over two years, as a token of appreciation from the members, for his efficient service in that capacity.

JEFFRIES STILL IS CHAMPION

Although James J. Corbett Nearly Wrested the Laurels From His Classic Brow.

Special to the JOURNAL.

NEW YORK, May 11.—For twenty-three fierce rounds before the Seaside athletic club at Coney Island tonight Jim Corbett made a monkey out of Champion Jim Jeffries. Then when Corbett's backers were confident that Pompadour Jim was about to step once more into the championship, Corbett got in the way of a wild swing on his jaw and it was all over.

Corbett weighed 185 pounds and Jeffries 200, but he looked like 225 at least. Throughout the 22 rounds Corbett stood off the champion's rushes with a skill and power that astonished thousands who believed his vitality gone. In cleverness he was the same Corbett who dethroned John L. Sullivan. He hit Jeffries almost as he pleased, had him bleeding like a stuck pig, and jolled him with good natured railery throughout the fight.

Although defeated, Corbett has sprung from the realms of obscurity to a place next to Jeffries, fit for the best pugilistic heavy weights, who have for two years past regarded Pompadour Jim as a has been.

Letter From Truckee.

Trains are now running regularly between Truckee and Overton, where the Hobart mills are now running at full capacity.

The many friends of Patrick Henry will be pleased to learn that he has recovered from his recent serious illness.

The Truckee Lumber Company's box factory is now operating full handed.

A number of contracts have been let in this vicinity for supplying wood to the Floriston pulp and paper mills.

Now that there is an all-rail route to Lake Tahoe it is expected that tourist travel to the lake will be large this season.

Over a hundred men are employed in construction work at Floriston.

Several wagon loads of steel rails were taken out to Lewis Bros' sawmill yesterday. They were the first consignment for the logging railroad to be built at the mill.

About 5,000,000 feet of logs will be hauled out over the Buckhalter road this season. The supply will then be practically exhausted.

The outlook is for a big season in the lumber industry. A larger force than usual is employed in the mills and logging camps. This will make lively times later in the season.

The debris on the site of the Truckee hotel is being removed. It is rumored a large and handsome tourist hotel will be built there.

The Truckee and Lake Tahoe railroad has extended its tracks into the heart of the town. Trains will begin running regularly on the 15th.

ROYAL

Baking Powder

The strongest, purest, most efficient and wholesome of leavening agents. Not lowest in price, yet the most economical; indispensable to all who appreciate the best and most healthful food.

Our country is enjoying prosperity almost unsurpassed in its history.

For every one there is money enough to buy that to eat which is pure, sound, good, wholesome.

Why should we use cheap, impure, unhealthful articles of food? There is no economy in them; they endanger the health, they may cost life. There are reported almost daily cases of sickness caused by eating cake, puddings or biscuit made with the cheap, alum baking powders.

In all articles for food buy and use only the best. The good health of the family is of first consideration.

Alum is used in many baking powders because it makes them cheap. It costs less than two cents a pound. Alum is a corrosive poison. Think of feeding it to children! Yet the manufacturers of well-known alum powders are actually denying that their goods contain it.

Hence the Delay.

For the past month all the Washoos, from the oldest inhabitant who predicts a "spell of weather," down to the prep. student just out of swaddling clothes, have been asking why the grand jury report has not been called for.
We rise to answer.
In the Simas matter, now pending before the Supreme Court, a point was taken by the defense that there was a hitch in the drawing of the grand jury. For this reason Judge Corlier will not call for the report until the case is decided, which is looked for within the next two weeks.

RENDITION OF OLIVETTE

University Students Score a Big Success in Comic Opera.

The production of the delightful comic opera Olivette last night was finished, artistic and highly appreciated. McKissick's opera house was well filled. The students of the university, who put on the play, are to be congratulated on the high play of more than ordinary musical and dramatic ability. Much credit for the success of the play is due to Lester Merrill, who, before the production, has not ended by any means.

This afternoon a matinee will be given. It should, and doubtless will, be well attended. It would probably result in a few more "sour-balls" if the Journal should make individual mention of the more meritorious of the cast, so the list is hereby published in toto, without comment.

Marvejol. Miss Rowena E. Langan, Captain de Merriam, of the man-of-war Cormorant. Lester R. Merrill, Valentine, officer of the Rousillon guard, his nephew Richard M. Tobin, Bathilde, Countess of Rousillon, in love with Valentine. Miss Cecil Linn, Duke Des Iles, cousin and heir presumptive to the Countess.

J. B. O'Sullivan, Cogallicot, his foster brother and henchman. James P. Giles, Marvejol, Olivette's father, Senechal to the Countess and Maire of Perpignan. Ralph Stubbs, Veloutine, the Senechal's housekeeper. Miss Myrtle Montrose, Moustique, cabin boy to Merimac.

Miss Laura Shier, Courtiers, nobles, citizens, wedding guests, sailors and pages as follows: Sopranos—Misses Annie Shier, Lulu Oulp, Ida Holmes, May Bacon, Laura Kirby, Beatrice Hart, Beesie Evans, Alma Pavola, Alice Comerford, Martha Hinch, Tessie Fitzgerald, Lillian Merritt; Vera Davis.

Altos—Misses Gene Arnot, Kate Bender, Cholee Brookings, Ila Bradshaw, Lottie Dodd and Miss Edith Hart. Tenors—Frank Smith, Dave Ward, Thomas Mack, and Henry Brule. Basses—Scott Jameson, Roy Richard, Bren Smith, Birch Jones and Edgar Leavitt.

The Next Attraction.

The "New South," the opening play of the Dailey Company is laid in the south during the reconstruction days. It was one of Jos. Grismer and Phoebe Davies' greatest successes, and it also served to introduce them to New York audiences, where the beautiful play had a run of over three hundred nights.

The advance sale is quite large and the house will no doubt be crowded when this popular company opens their engagement.

Each individual play that they will present during the engagement is from the pen of America's foremost authors and a dramatic treat is assured the Reno theater patrons.

Work Progressing.

Antone Dragovich came in yesterday from the Pyramid mines and continued on to San Francisco. He says that work is progressing satisfactorily at the mine. A drift is being run on a new discovery—a three-foot vein of copper ore. Mr. Dragovich will increase the force at the mine when he returns next week.

Will Receive His Sheepskin.

Miss Belle Rollson left for Berkeley last night to attend the commencement exercises of the dental college of the University of California. They take place Tuesday morning. Fred J. Rollson, her brother, is a member of the graduation class.

MINING BOOM DRAWS NEAR

Claim Owners Developing Their Properties and Shipping Good Ore.

The muchly-prophesied and long-expected mining boom is coming in over the pile and will strike old Washoe in less than no time. Prospectors had hitherto been sitting with folded arms, waiting for the "eastern capital" or "Bitter syndicate" to come along and buy their claims for some thing in six figures.

These claims have been changing hands rapidly. The claim owners have set up their camps by the dozen and are making active development. A couple of mine-owners have shown their nerve by making carload shipments to Selby's and Deaver. Others have been inspired to follow their example, and ore sacks are in demand.

The return of Mr. Burton with a lot of machinery has awakened a hope that soon the reduction works would treat local ore. The hope will doubtless be shortly realized.

In a dozen store windows are little heaps of ore showing what some of the new-found copper mines around Reno are capable of producing. Let the boom arrive. We're ready for it.

New Time Card.

Following will be leaving time for the west-bound trains: No. 1, flyer, unchanged; No. 3, 12:20 A. M., No. 5, unchanged.
